What the Logo Means...

The tree in the logo above is a symbol of life and health; only healthy trees bear fruit. It harkens back to the Garden of Eden, a time when humans lived in perfect harmony with God, the world and themselves. The swirling branches on the tree indicate our relational nature; we are to love one another as we love ourselves. We love others because God first loved us.

The cross in the center reminds us of Christ’s redemptive act to restore fallen humanity, forgiving sins and restoring all of Creation to wholeness, its original design. The roots of the tree declare that we are grounded in Christ. There is a great deal of overlapping lines in the drawing, speaking to the dynamic process of WHoly Living, that all the various aspects of our life, body, mind & spirit are intertwined.

The green pathway speaks of the journey of life. The smaller pathway hints at the individual journey we all take as part of the larger journey. Wherever we are in our walk of life, even if we have lost our way, we can step back onto the path to wholeness that God intends for everyone.

The word WHoly is intentionally spelled that way, reminding us that wholistic health involves body, mind and spirit, our environment, and our relationships. It addresses our spiritual nature, that God in Christ through the Holy Spirit is making us holy, even as God is holy.
